

Table of Contents (ICOWET 1999)

Overview of Transportation Related Wildlife Problems – Scott Jackson, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA

Restoration of Carnivore Habitat Connectivity in the Northern Rockies – Bill Ruediger, Jay Gore, and Jim Claar, USDA Forest Service, Missoula, MT

Documenting Grizzly Bear Highway Crossing Patterns Using GPS Technology – Chris Servheen and John Waller, US Fish and Wildlife Service, Missoula, MT

Reducing Human-Caused Grizzly and Black Bear Mortality Along Roadside Corridors in Yellowstone National Park – Kerry Gunther and Mark Biel, Yellowstone National Park, WY

Brown Bears in Slovenia: Identifying Locations for Construction of Wildlife Bridges Across Highways – Andrej Kobler, Slovenian Forestry Institute; and Miha Adamic, University of Ljubljana, Slovenia

Highway Effects on Gray Wolves within the Golden Canyon, British Columbia – Carolyn Callaghan and Paul Paquet, Central Rockies Wolf Project, Canmore, Alberta, and Jack Wierzchowski, Geomar Consulting, Calgary, Alberta

Impacts of A Highway Expansion Project on Timber Wolves in Northwestern Wisconsin – Bruce Kohn, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, Rhinelander, WI

A Programmatic Agreement to Minimize Highway Project Impacts on Canadian Lynx (lynx canadensis) in Colorado – Sarah Barnum, Colorado Department of Transportation, Denver, CO

Assessing Habitat Connectivity in the Interstate 90 Snoqualmie Pass Corridor, Washington – Peter Singleton and John Lehmkuhl, U.S. Forest Service, Wenatchee, WA

Wildlife Mortality on Railways: Monitoring Methods and Mitigation Strategies – Pat Wells, Revelstoke, British Columbia; Greta Bridgewater,

Canadian Pacific Railway, Calgary, AB; Hal Morrison and John Woods,
Parks Canada, BC

The Effects of Reduced Speed Zones on Reducing Bighorn Sheep and Elk Collisions with Vehicles on Yellowstone Highway in Jasper National Park – Jim Bertwistle, Jasper National Park, Alberta

Development of a Community-Based, Landscape-Level Terrestrial Mitigation Decision Support System for Transportation Planners – Mark Maurer, Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, Harrisburg, PA

Biodiversity Issues in Road Environmental Impact Assessments: Guidance and Case Studies – Helen Byron, Imperial College, London, UK

Measures Aimed at Reducing Negative Impacts of Transport on the Wildlife and its Implementation in the Czech Republic – Jiri Dufek, Transport Research Centre, and Vladimir Adamec, Masaryk University, Czech Republic

Spatial Models as an Emerging Foundation of Road System Ecology and a Handle for Transportation Planning and Policy – Richard T. T. Forman, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA

The Effects of Highway Mortality on Four Species of Amphibians at a Small, Temporary Pond in Northern Florida – Bruce Means, Coastal Plains Institute and Land Conservancy, Tallahassee, FL

Preliminary Evaluation of the Impact of Roads and Associated Vehicular Traffic on Snake Populations in Eastern Texas – Craig Rudolph, Shirley Burgdorf, Richard Conner, and Richard Schaefer, U.S.D.A. Forest Service, Nacogdoches, TX

Improving Performance of Roads and Railways for Wildlife Conservation: Showing Results with Two Case Studies in Central Spain – Dolores Hedo, Department of Conservation, Madrid, Spain

The Effects of Highways on Trout and Salmon Rivers and Streams in the Western U.S. – Robert Ruediger, USDI Bureau of Land Management, Salem, OR

I-26 Stream Mitigation – Phillip Todd and Gordon Cashin, North Carolina Department of Transportation, Raleigh, NC

Bats in American Bridges – Brian Keeley, Bat Conservation International, Inc., Austin, TX

Wildlife Habitat Mitigation – Bob Bonds, Wyoming Department of Transportation, Cheyenne, WY

Methods Used by the Arizona Department of Transportation to Reduce Wildlife Mortality and Improve Highway Safety – Douglas Brown, Arizona Department of Transportation, Phoenix, AZ

Usage of GIS in Wildlife Passage Planning in Estonia – Lauri Klein, University of Tartu, Estonia

Addressing Deer-Vehicle Accidents with an Ecological Landscape GIS Approach – Mary Hindelang, White Water Associates, Inc., Amasa, MI

A GIS Plan to Protect Fish and Wildlife Resources in the Big Bend Area of Florida – Randy Kautz, and Terry Gilbert, Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission, Tallahassee, FL

Identification and Prioritization of Ecological Interface Zones on State Highways in Florida – Dan Smith, University of Florida, Gainesville, FL

Bridge Replacements: An Opportunity to Improve Habitat Connectivity – Laurie Macdonald and Sietske Smith, Defenders of Wildlife, Washington, D.C.

Decision Support Applications for Evaluating Placement Requisites and Effectiveness of Wildlife Crossing Structures – Shelley Alexander and Nigel Waters, University of Calgary, Calgary, AB

Locating Wildlife Underpasses Prior to the Expansion of Highway 64 in North Carolina – Brian Scheick and Mark Jones, North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, Plymouth and Bridgeton, NC

Use of Fauna Passages Along Waterways Under Highways – Geesje Veenbaas, Ministry of Transport, Delft, The Netherlands

Wildlife Management on Arterial Highways in New Brunswick –Mike Phillips, New Brunswick Department of Transportation, NB, Canada

Dry Drainage Culvert Use and Design Considerations for Small- and Medium-Sized Mammal Movement Across a Major Transportation Corridor – Anthony P. Clevenger and Nigel Waltho, York University, North York, Ontario

Progress In Protecting Wildlife From Transportation Impacts in Hungary and Other European Countries – Agnes Simonyi, Technical and Information Services on National Roads, Budapest, Hungary
